Principal's Message

In September of 1970 we will introduce a new programme in Grades 9 and 10, and the following year extend this programme to the senior grades. This programme will enable students to embark on a course of study tailor-made to their individual needs. These students will be able to sample as many diverse fields as their interests dictate and probe these areas as deeply as their abilities will allow. The prescriptive portion of the programme will become less and less restrictive as the students move up through the various year levels and promotion will be on a subject rather than a grade basis.

Most people will agree that this approach, which has now been opened to all schools in Ontario, is of great value and is long overdue. Unfortunately some also feel that it will solve all the problems associated with the current educational scene, from student unrest to lack of academic achievement, from social maladjustment to moral decay. This however is not the case. Basically nothing has changed. This programme is not a cure-all. Further, I would estimate that eighty percent of our students proceeding to post-secondary education will end up taking exactly the same programme at the same level of rigour as under the former system — for although certain subjects are designated optional they are only optional for diploma purposes and become compulsory in fact by virtue of the demands of the post-secondary institutions.

The real or fundamental change if one takes place will be because of a change in student attitude as a result of being in courses by choice rather than by compulsion. This change of attitude will be reflected in the amount of time and effort the students will be willing to spend on their school work, and this in turn will undoubtedly result in greater scholastic achievement. Any student who is achieving well will be satisfied with his student role, and consequently rebellious, anti-social behavioural attitudes which creep in quite naturally in the early teens will not be reinforced in the critical years of self-image formation. Needless to say teacher enthusiasm and effort have always been in direct proportion to student enthusiasm and performance. This interaction can only lead to a happy spiral upwards to the eventual realization of the maximum potential of staff and students alike--and this after all is what education is all about.

THE ENIGMA OF YOUTH – THE CHALLENGE OF EDUCATION

by E. S. Bryan
Vice-Principal

I am daily confronted with the challenge of ascertaining what reasons are the motivating factors in our youth's behaviour. I would at the onset congratulate the ninety-five percent of our population who appear to know what they want out of life and who make the best use of existing educational opportunities. The fact that educational reform lags behind the need of our youth speaks well for the insights of the majority of our youth. If you meet the challenge of your day with the same courage and determination which you are displaying at Belle River High School, our Country should be in good hands.

What about the other five percent??--They are the educational system's real challenge. From this group come the discipline problems and the potential dropouts. The majority have intellectual potential, but fail to utilize it. Naturally educational authorities ask the question, "Why?"

The natural inclination of both students and parents is to point the finger at the educational system in general and at teachers in particular. The school is too strict, or the school is not strict enough. The school curriculum is outmoded and a student must take courses that present no interest to him. The teacher is accused of not liking the parent's son or daughter, picks on him, etc., etc. The list is inexhaustible.

I will grant you that no school system is perfect. I have already indicated that reform lags behind need. Curriculum and structural change are lagging; we are trying to catch up. Teachers are human and do take dislikes to other human beings. However, I would like to draw some attention to the other side of the coin:

Our youth have too much money and too much leusure time. Materialism has become the rule by which youth judges other youth (and adults) as to their worth. Need we look very far to see where this insight comes from--try reading your daily newspaper and the demands of the various unions. If adults are showing the way and youth is responding to their teaching, perhaps the adults had better take a long, hard look at themselves.

Several areas particularly stand out. These, of course, are only a few choices of an inexhaustible choice which I might make.

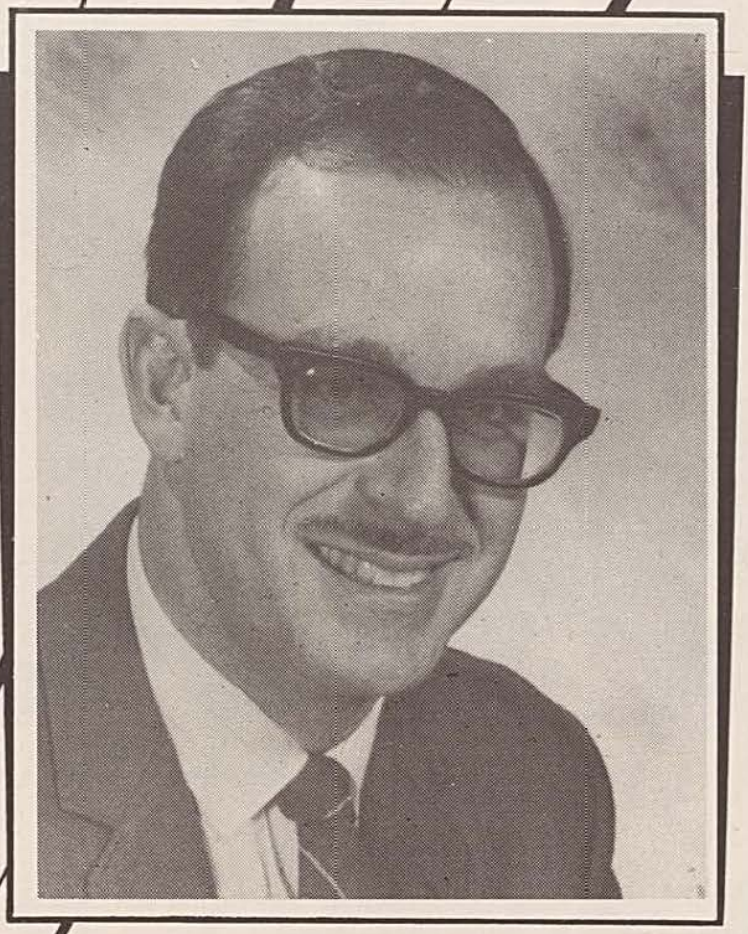

Youth is involved in drugs and alcohol. Where does the money come from to satisfy this experimentation? Why don't parents make those students who have so much cash buy their own clothes, food, etc. The lesson that you must pay your own way is not learned at school. A good example is the automobile, either owned or borrowed. How often have I seen a student's grades drop because of the interest allowed by parents in this area.

Parents allow open disrespect in their home where they should be in full control. It is little wonder that this overflows into the school. Disrespect at school will not be tolerated and the student eventually gets into a great deal of difficulty.

Where does all this leave you--our students? The school attempts to teach the lessons that are often missed at home--but more often than enough it is too little and too late. Those who cannot accept the discipline become the dropouts; sometimes, put-outs!

Those of our student body who are graduating are those who have learned to compromise their position. They have learned that society has rules for them to live by and within which they can function as individuals. This has not been learned entirely because they were students of this school, but because both home and school are doing their job and showing their concern for Canada's most important natural resource--yourselves!

In conclusion may I express my every good wish for continued success in whatever area of life your vocation takes you. I leave you with one final reminder that successful interpersonal relationships are often the key to an individuals success. I would remind our undergraduates that this is also true in their academic pursuits.

BACK ROW: Mr. Elliot, Mr. Rivard, Mr. Glovasky, Mr. Stirling, Mr. Bernath. MIDDLE ROW: Mr. Dubs, Mr. Grondin, Mr. Renaud, Mr. Hunter. SITTING: Mrs. Oleynik, Mr. Blake, Mrs. Marentette.

In a popular play by a famous author, a father gives advice to his son, who is just entering manhood. The father gives this advice:

"Keep your rash thoughts to yourself and don't talk about them, nor act upon those thoughts not thoroughly reasoned out.

Be friendly, but not overly friendly, with your companions; and when you have made a friend who is trustworthy and true, be likewise to him. Do not spend your time trying to impress a newly-made acquaintance.

Be very slow to enter into an argument – but if you do get into one, conduct yourself so your opponent will respect both you and your point of view.

Listen to everyone who talks to you, but advise few; listen to the criticism given you, but keep your retorts to yourself.

Live in the manner your income dictates, without buying gaudy things to put on a show, for a man is judged by his appearance.

Be neither a borrower nor a lender, for the loan may lose the friend as well as the money, and borrowing tends to destroy thrift.

And above all, be honest with yourself; for it stands to reason that if you are honest with yourself, you cannot then be dishonest with anyone else."

Doesn't this seem like good advice to you? It's timely, proper, and sensible; and yet this advice was given in 1601 – over 369 years ago.

The author was William Shakespeare, the play was Hamlet, and it was Polonius giving advice to his son Laertes.

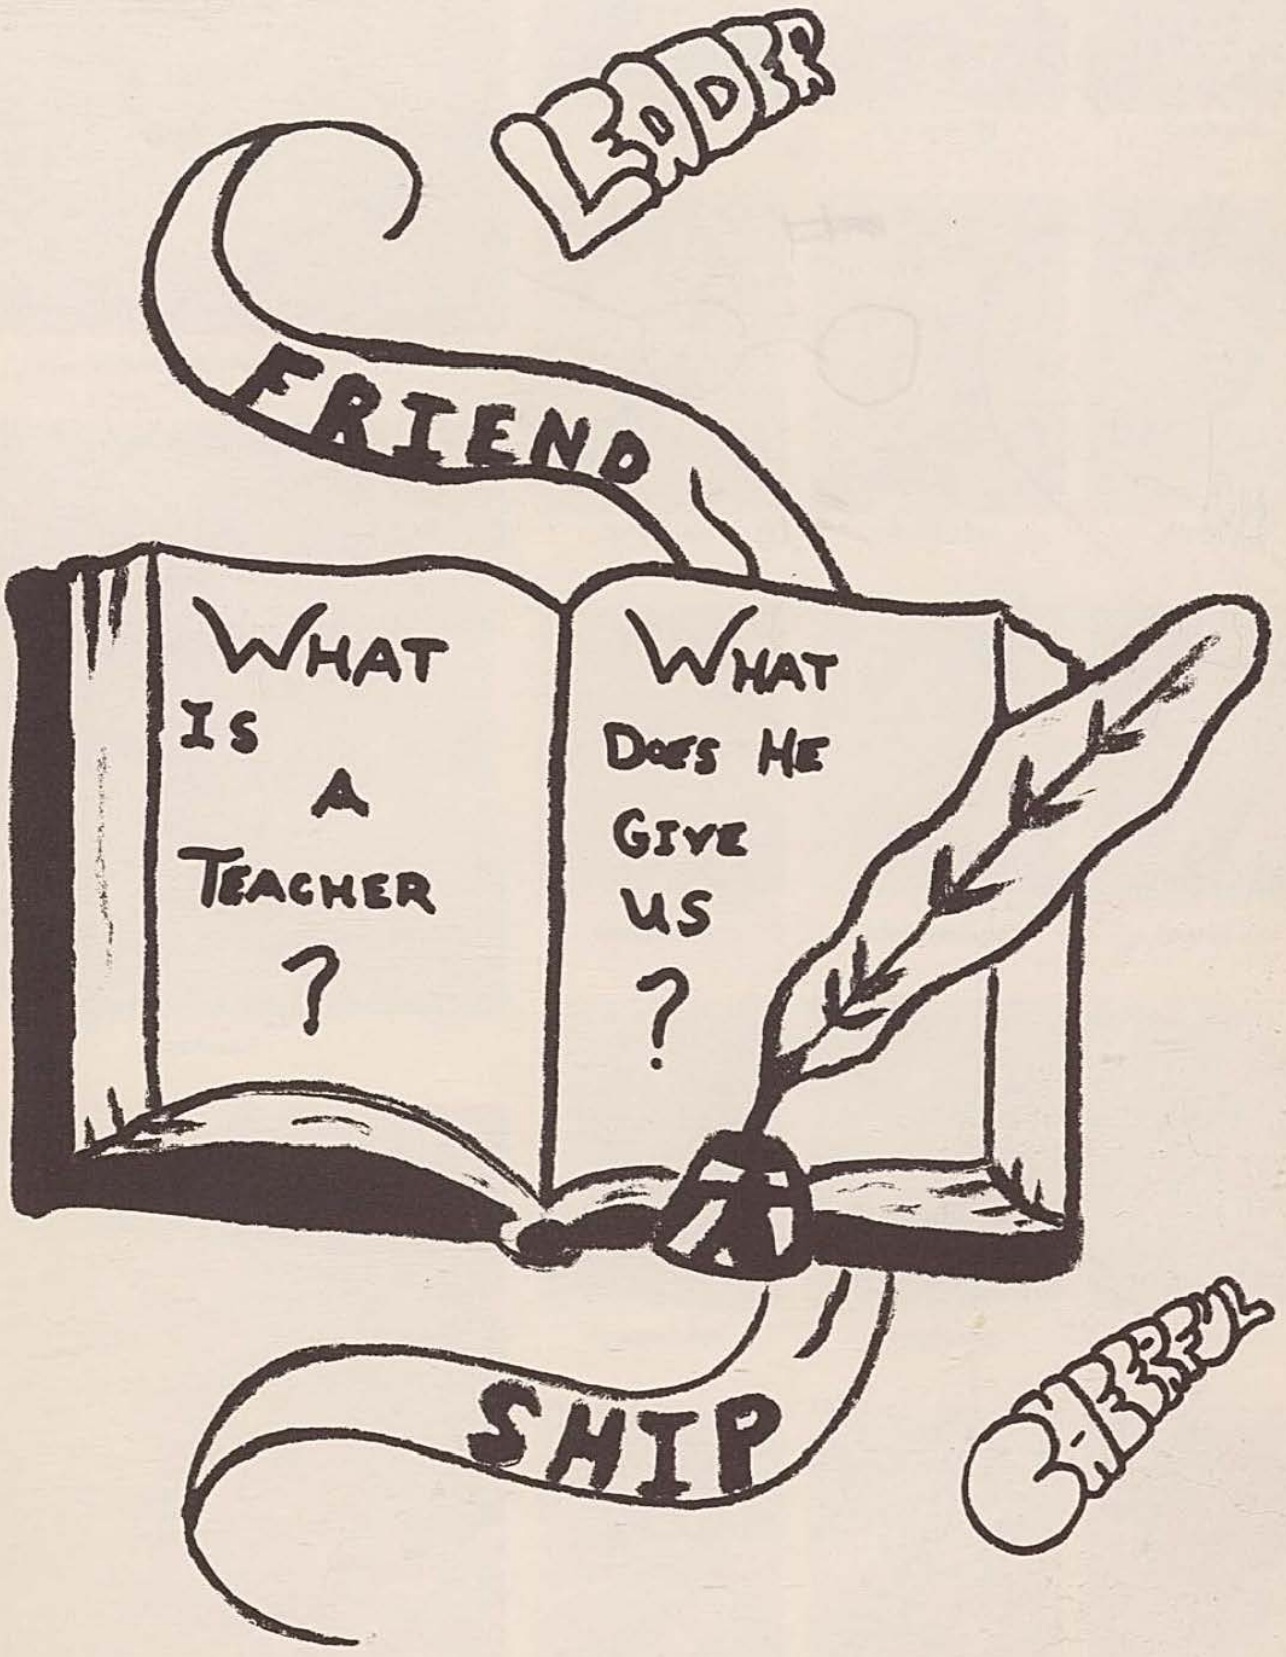

It is strange that wise counsel, 369 years ago, could be appropriate to-day, yet it is.

As you progress through life, keep one thought in mind, "there is no use in making a better world if, in the process, we do not make better men."

After all, it's your world, too!!

Graduates

Knowledge is a journey
For Wise Men,
Who had travelled
Long and hard,
To follow a star;
But Oh! how we have Done much better,
Because we have reached
For it!

VOICE OF THE 69—70 GRADUATES

Through the course of the years, we, the graduates of 69-70 have experienced much that words can never express. Remembering back to our first days in high school, we can not help but recall the confusion and bewilderment evident in the eyes of our fellow classmates. Yes, those years have been a challenging battle but more important they have become a rewarding victory for all of us. How quickly that time has passed; one can hardly believe the great changes that have taken place inside each and every one of us. Together we have shared long years of toil, determination and joys. From the memories of the past, we have noted the growing pride of former graduates; here, we have learned the most valuable of all experiences--the ability to get along with others.

Now, those big brown doors have been closed, leaving us to ponder on shared moments of wonder. We must now seek out our friends and our leaders in society. We must have self-reliance, for it is only the man that is strong who stands alone; and only the strong survive! Remember fellow students, no one can bring you success but yourself.

So let us help our generation to overcome the strifling problems in our present day system and pray for a beautiful world.

We wish for each and every one of our fellow graduates, a good fortune in his individual undertakings. And may our treasured memories of Belle River District High School always remain warm within us.

BONHEUR D'OCCASION

Je vie,
Je souffle, je cours, je pleure.
Le bonheur est le mien à l'heure
Mais il ne prend qu'un bref moment
A me peiner pour tout temps.
Alors pourquoi vivre,
Si le bonheur n'est seulement,
Un bonheur d'occasion.

Anita St. Pierre

Absurde est la vie
Seul nos actes nous jugent
Comme un bouchon nous flottons
Sur l'histoire du monde
Vivre-pour quelle raison?

Lucille Gaudette

Regardez là-bas cet enfant qui pleure
Car il a faim et même en meurt.
Sa mère est là pour en prendre soin
Mais les caresses n'aident pas sa faim.

Et regardez un peu plus près cet enfant qui pleure
Car il ne veut que manger le meilleur
Sa mère est là pour l'écouter
Et s'assurer qu'il est bien gâté.

Regardez ici en voilà un autre
Petit orphelin souriant qui nous montre
Les vers qu'il vient de trouver
Et qui sera son meilleur souper.

Et regardez ici en voilà un pareil
Enfant riche qui refuse tout un repas de merveil.
Car il n'aime pas du mais
Et pour cette raison il est triste.

Mais lesquels des enfants prient le plus
Ils "Le" remercient pour les miettes même s'ils sont nues.
Et nous les enfants riches que faisons nous pour "Le" remercier?
Oui, peut-être on critique qu'on en a pas assez.

Elaine Levaisseur, 11A-1

D'un regard, mon sourire naît.
D'un sourire, mon coeur bat.
D'une parole, mon âme s'enflamme,
D'un geste, ma vie s'est changée.

Nicole Ouimet

VIVRE, MOURIR

Vivre, c'est la prison d'un être,
La peine,
Le désespoir,
Vivre c'est mourir.

Mourir, c'est la liberté d'un être,
Le bonheur,
L'espoir,
Mourir c'est vivre.

L'homme, à cause de sa jeunesse
Sa naiveté
Sa faiblesse
Ne peut point les distinguer.

Georgette Gouin

L'ASTRE DE LA NUIT

Lune, vénérable astre de la nuit,
Voilà des miliers d'années, l'homme découvrit
Que ton existence marquait sa vie.

Tout au long de son histoire
Il a toujours voulu savoir
Pourquoi tu ne brillais que le soir.

Puis il comprit quelques-uns de tes secrets
Comme celui que personne ne t'habitait
Et sa curiosité nerveusement s'agitait.

Pourquoi ne t'a-t-il pas laissé voyante
Eclairant la nuit et les amants
De tes rayons toujours plus blancs.

Et pourquoi t'es-tu laissée conquérir
Ne savait-tu pas que ça te ferait mourir
Car dans l'esprit des hommes tu ne pouvais plus luire.

En effet, l'homme admire se qu'il ne peut pas
Attraper, rejoindre et serrer dans ses bras
Les amants le prouvaient souvent devant toi
Astre de la nuit, tu aurais dû prendre garde à toi.

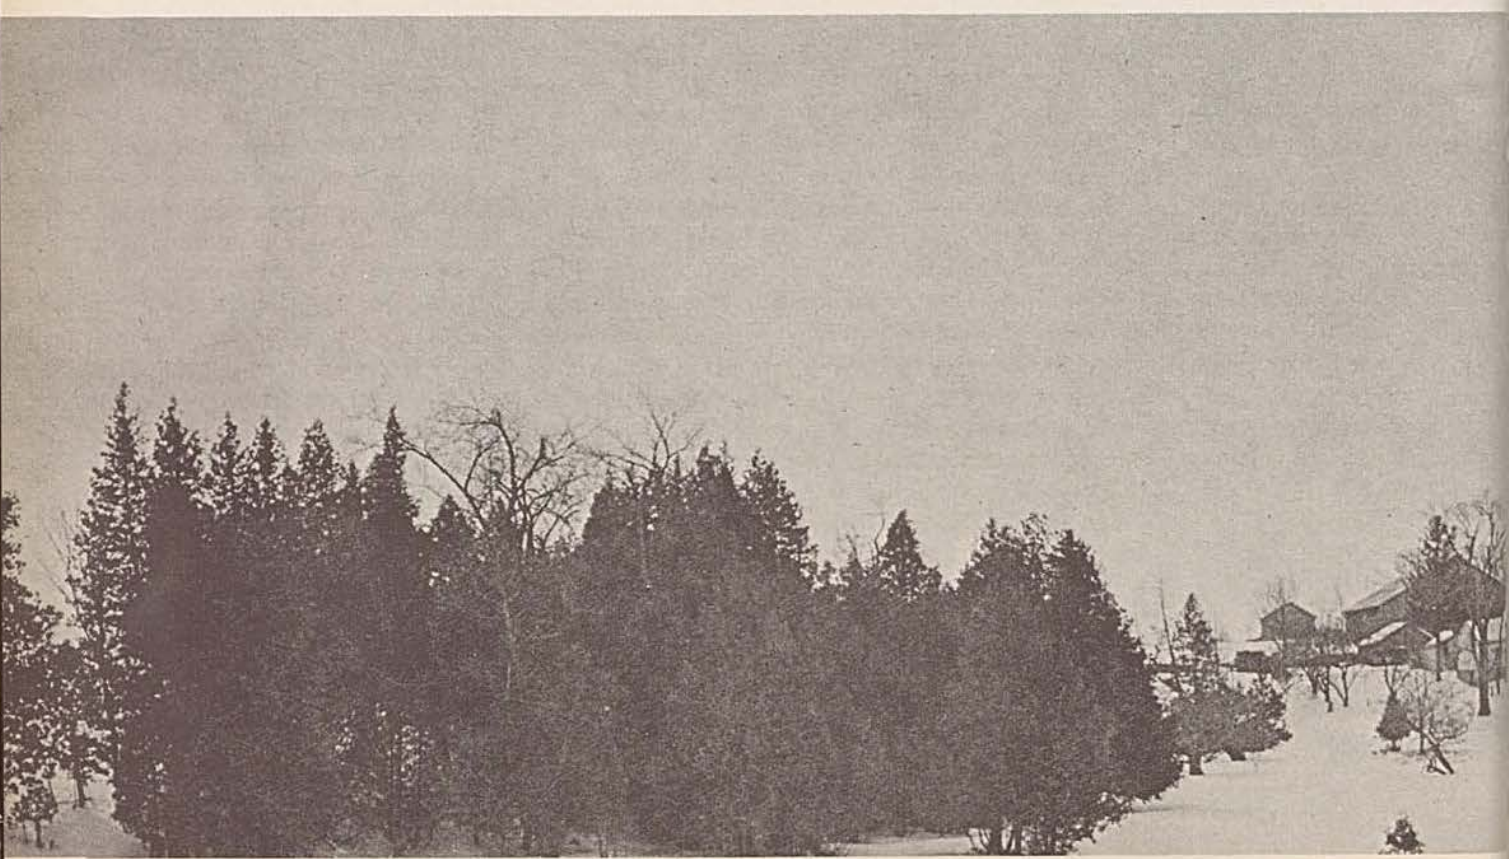

Jacques Leblond, 11A-1

Soyons gais, puisque la vie est triste,
Si même l'ennuie dans nos coeurs persiste.

Sourire, même en pleur, c'est dérober sa peine,
C'est rendre sa douleur joyeusement sereine.

Dans nos misères sourions pour ne pas sangloter,
En souriant toujours, essayons de chanter.

Aline Beaulieu

M. LEVEILLE

Quoi de plus beau
Le matin au réveil
De regarder en haut
Le lever du soleil

Mais vous citadins
Qui restez en ville
Vous ne pouvez le matin
Dormir tranquille

Tant qu'à nous compagnards
Dans notre nature
Qu'il soit tôt ou tard
Nous dormons bien dur

Louise Leboeuf 9A-1

VITE FAITE

C.est un matin de printemps.
Je me réveille
Au soleil le plus brillant de l'univers.
Il brille pour moi seul.
J'aime.

C'est une après-midi d'été.
L'herbe semble être trop verte,
Le ciel — trop bleu.
Je m'en fou.
J'aime.

C'est une soirée d'automne.
La lune pâle se détourne.
Les étoiles percent, avec indifférence, le ciel,
Et mon coeur.
J'aime — mais il ne m'aime plus.

par: Alice Rondot 13

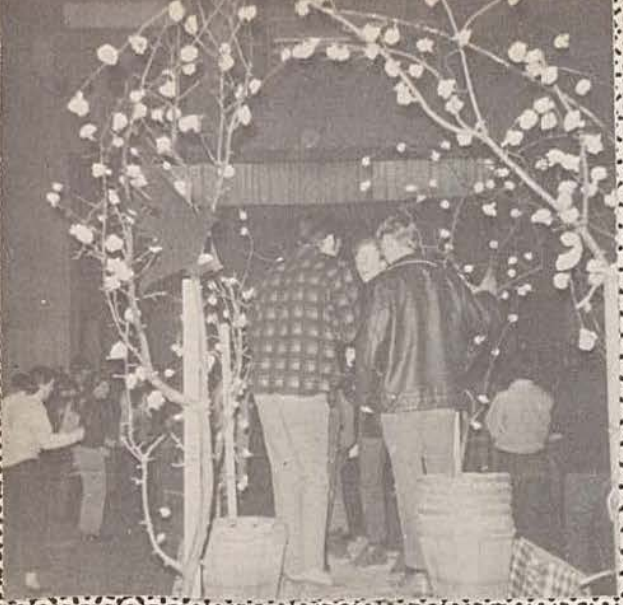

L'air est parfumé,
Le soleil est doux,
Le vent apporte le gai chant de l'alouette
Je me lève des rêves
Pensant à mon bien-aimé.
Les murmures du matin
Me disent c'est le temps de m'éveiller
Et comm encer une autre journée!

Yvette C. Quenneville 13A-1

LA NATURE

C'est une chose magnifique,
Remplie de trésors inoubliables.
C'est une bourse magnifique,
Qui a des pouvoirs inépuisables.
C'est un bien inespéré,
Pour ceux qui n'ont rien.
C'est un cadeau réservé,
Pour ceux qui espèrent en vain.
C'est pour ceux qui le veulent,
Un chemin vers le bonheur,
Et pour ceux qui le peuvent,
Une réserve de spendeurs.

REACH OUT

Through a world of pot and grass,
Searching like a scout,
Staring and trying to see,
Then turning--reaching out.

The answer lies not in fantasy
But in a world of doubt,
Running around in circles,
Then turning--reaching out.

Not many people want to see
The hell that lies about,
Hating, loving, killing,
Then turning--reaching out.

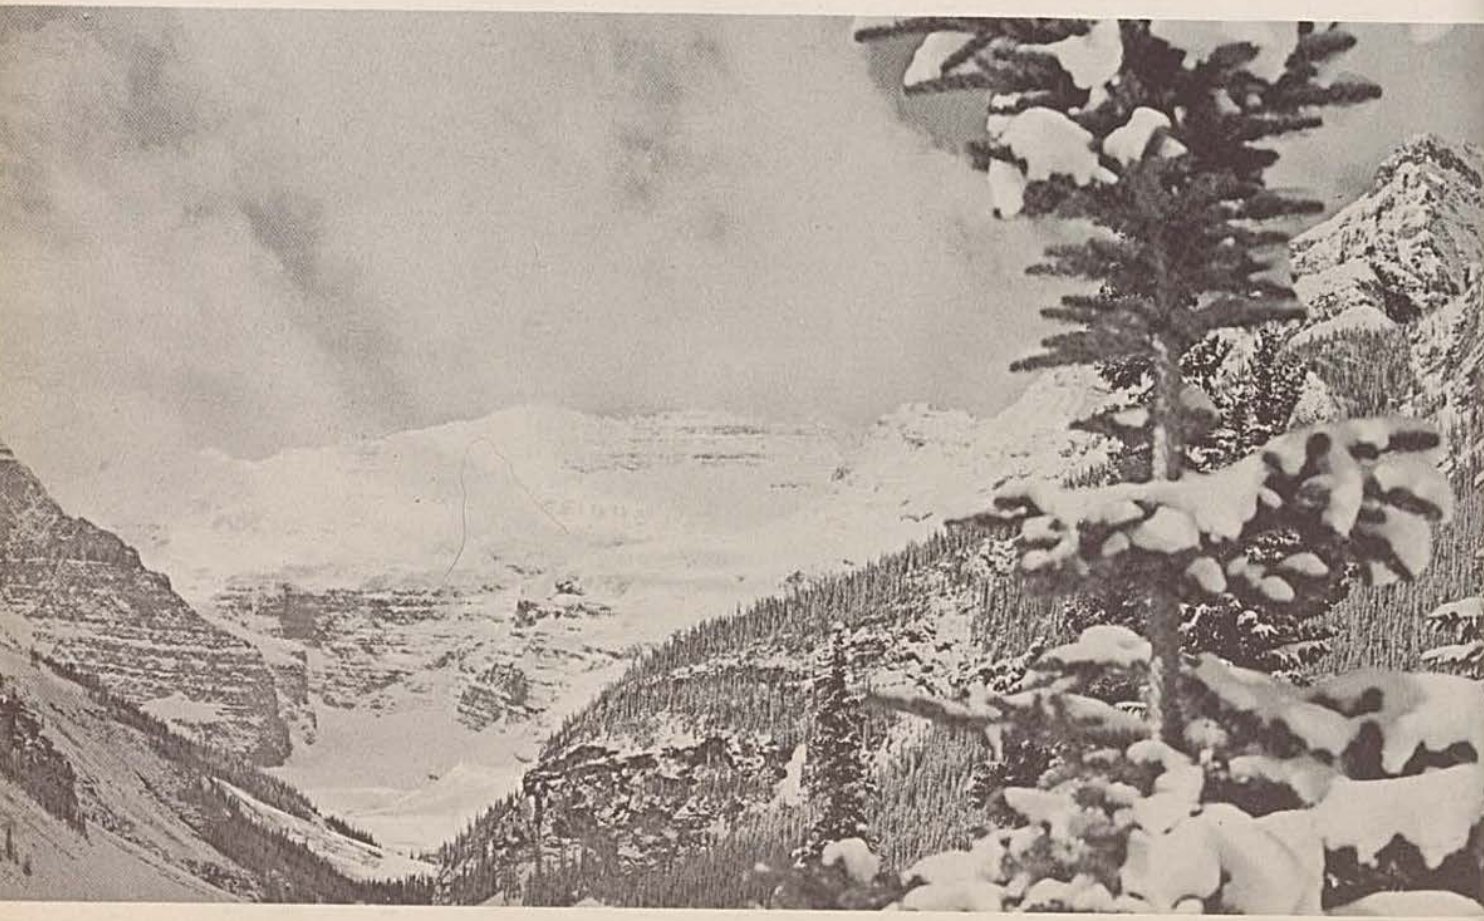

Love, hate and death,
My mind half blown out.
Is it sanity or insanity?
Always turning--reaching out.

Smoke and dreariness blind me.
Silent voices shout,
Falling into one world,
Then turning--reaching out.

Dreams, fantasy, lies,
What are they all about?
Minds closed by ignorance
Don't bother turning,
Don't reach out.

MADE OF SAND

Down by the lonely sea shore
A little boy with pail and shovel stands,
He has made a castle for the Lord
With his small precious hands,
But in time, the castle will stand no more
For it was only made of sand.

THE SEARCH

To look into a mirror
And say it is I,
To grasp the truth
Knowing it will be mine,
To find an image,
That can be real, real
Is to seek for a great deal.

ESCAPE

A neurotic seeking,
To escape from life,
Trying to leave,
All my despaired hopes,
In the past,
But instead they followed
Like a haunting shadow,
Into the world of Acid.

There my mind tangled,
With whirling illusions,
Shrieking cries of torture
Without any pain,
Trembling lost hands,
Grasping desperately for help,
But feeble footsteps in the dark,
Has led me back back . . . . . .

Far through the tunnels of time
From a journey unknown,
And as I am left,
In the stilled darkness,
Of my room,
I know now,
God has given me,
A preview of hell.

Connie Dufour 12-A-2

LIFE

A giggle, a tear,
A heartbreak or two,
Family reunions,
(Oh my, how you grew!)
A birthday, a ring
You cherished so much,
Eraser, shoe string,
Marbles and such,
New shoes, parties,
Hallowe'en night,
Goblins, witches,
Many a fright,
First date, makeup,
Buying a wig,
Boys and dances,
New cars you 'dig',
Boat rides, romance,
A marriage or two,
You for me,
And me for you,
Anniversaries,
Silver, then gold,
The first thing you know,
You're getting quite old,
Old age pension,
And rocking chair,
New false teeth,
And thinning hair,
Rheumatism,
Forever in bed,
You've lived a full life,
And now you're dead,
Funeral parlour,
Black veils and tears,
And soon you're forgotten
Throughout the years.

TOGETHER FOREVER

I wanted him for me,
To keep and to hold,
I wanted to him say,
"Please don't let me go,
I love you with all my heart,
Let me hold you tight tonight,
While the moonlight lasts,"
We kissed and I heard him say,
"Please Don't leave me for another day,
I love you so."
And this I know,
We shall be together.

Theresa St. John, 10/CI.

LOVE

Why does love hurt so much,
When he is gone?

You seem helpless and lifeless without him!
And he keeps you in mystery
Making you ask yourself millions of questions.

Tears begin to fall
And your body shakes with fear.

BUT

Over and over again you say to yourself,
"What have I done"?
It can't last forever!
Can it?

Oh God! Please!
Tell me!.

Then . . .
Your love comes near you,
And passes by without a smile or say.
And you freeze, speechless because you've done something,
You can feel it.

"But what?" you say,
"What is it?"

It's grown so ghastly that you are about to cry, and you feel like,
Grabbing his shoulders and say,
"What have I done?"
"What have I done to,
Deserve this separation between us?
I didn't mean it,
I need you!

"Oh God!" tell me,
Tell me!
"Before it's too LATE!

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS

My Fellow Students:

I am very honoured to have been appointed to this position to represent the student body. This year was a great challenge to me. I certainly could not have gotten through the year without the help of Anne, Leon, Sandy and Mary Jane. I would like to express my thanks to these people and to those who helped out at Student Council activities. I would also like to express my thanks to Mr. Bryan and especially to Mr. Roth who was a great help to me during the year. Last of all I would like to thank the Yearbook Committee for this space where I could express my feelings.

MESSAGE FROM STUDENT BODY

To a man who has contributed more to this school than just the necessary time and energies of the teaching profession - he contributed himself.

Mr. Roth, you are the one who is most worthy of this recognition. In your work with the Student Council, you have supplied us with sound guidance, criticism, and advice that was required for our achievements.

Words are too menial to express our gratitude for all that you have done - all those tedious hours you have endured, the many barriers that you have encountered, all your efforts and countless headaches. On behalf of the students, thank you for all that you have accomplished for us. We wish you the best of luck in the future. We shall always remember you, for what you have contributed to this school for it can never be removed.

WHAT IS REAL IN SUMMER?

The wind passed and repassed again,
But still didn't recognize me,
The sun's rays touched my forehead,
But never entered my troubled mind,
And the river seems to run away from me,
As I stood on its lonely shore;
The God-like trees shook the heavens,
To tell me, that all they were made of,
Were imaginations created by my mind,
And yes, I myself was one of them.

DEAR BROOKE

you wrote some nice things in my book - I hope I do you just as much justice - so many kids wrote nice stuff to me - it really makes you feel good - it's too bad we waited 'til the end of the yr. to get to know each other - I remember when you first came to this school - I was (volleyball) - never did get to know you well - it was worth waiting for - thanks for being around you're always there to listen - you make a real good counsellor - you try to help everyone - that's really nice of ya - I hope you get just as much attention in return - good luck Brooke - have fun this summer - see ya in '73 we're gonna have a fun next yr. - th- Love ya Diane
